

design for needs

Call For Papers

---

DPI is proud to launch the first issue with the theme Design For Needs. This issue seeks to publish case studies of student projects which focus on solving basic human needs. Design students are invited to reflect upon and review the design processes, methods and thinking that lead them to an effective design or design proposal aimed at improving human needs. Submissions may be full written papers of 3,000 words, visual essays, or moving images.

Important dates

Abstract Submission: 16 December 2013

Full Paper Submission: 3 February 2014
